

Be a Disability Confident Business

Just under half of disabled people are employed - compared with 8 in 10 non-disabled people.

The UK economy simply can't afford to ignore such a source of talent and potential.

We know that many employers are interested in maximising the potential of disabled people, as it benefits their business too. We also know that some companies are not sure where to start.

So we're making it easy.

What can we do together?

Join us and be a Leonard Cheshire Work for All corporate partner. We'll take you on a journey that will support your business to be disability confident and "open for business" to the fastest growing minority group in the UK, both as staff and customers.

As a Work for All corporate partner, and working together with us, you can help fund our employment and education programmes and support disabled people to live, learn and work.

Ready to make your workplace Work for All?

Drop us an email to take your first step to become a
Work for All partner: WorkforAll@LeonardCheshire.org

What's in it for you?

- Join exclusive quarterly webinars featuring guest speakers in the disabled consumer and business sector.
- Become a disability confident business and learn about the government Disability Confident Scheme from our team of experts.
- Volunteer and support our staff and customers around the world. Engage with the people we support and play an active role in employment and education programmes.
- Recognition and promotion of your support on our media channels and website.
- Updates on the impact of your corporate donation and the difference it makes to disabled people.

